Poetry.

NEVER COURT BUT ONE.

I have finished it, the letter,
That will tell him he is free;
From this hour and forever,
He is nothing more to me!
And my heart feels lighter, gayer,
Since the deed at last is done—
It will teach him that when courting,
He should never court but one!

Everybody in the village
Knows he's been a wooing me;
And this morning he was riding
With that ugly Mary Lee!
They say he smiled upon her,
As he cantered by her side;
And I'll warrant you he promised
To make her soon his bride.

But I've finished it—the letter,
From this moment he is free—
He may have her, if he wants her,
If he loves her more than me.
He may go—it will not kill me—
I would say the same, so there,
If I knew it would, for flirting
Is more than I can bear.

It is twilight, and the evening
That he said he'd visit me;
But no doubt he's now with Minnie.
He may stay there too, for me!
And as true as I am living,
If he ever comes here more,
I'll act as if we never,
Never, never, met before.

It is time he should be coming,
And I wonder if he will;
If he does I'll look so coldly—
What's that shadow on the hill?
I declare out in the twilight
There is some one coming near—
Can it be? yes, 'tis his figure,
Just as true as I am here.

Now I almost wish I'd written
Not to him that he was free;
For perhaps 'twas but a story
That he rode with Minnie Lee.
There! he's coming thro' the gateway,
I will meet him at the door,
And I'll tell him still I love him,
If he'll court Miss Lee no more.

Miscellaneous.

THE HUNTINGDON AND BROAD TOP RAILROAD COMPANY.

The committee appointed by the several classes of bondholders of the Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad Company, to examine the affairs of the company, have made a report, recommending an arrangement very similar to that suggested by the officers of the company, namely: To fund two coupons of the first mortgage bonds; three coupons of the second mortgage bonds; four coupons of the consolidated mortgage bonds, and four coupons on the mining loan—the certificates covering the amount of detached coupons to be free of tax and to mature as follows: Those arising out of the 1st mortgage bonds, on October 1st, 1870, and those issued to the other loanholders on the 1st of November, 1872. The detached coupons are to be placed in the hands of trustees, and will be held unpaired in right and the certificates covering them mature; and, as additional security for the prompt payment of the coupon scrip, thirteen hundred shares of the common and preferred stock of the company are to be in like manner placed in the hands of trustees, who may at any time exchange the stock on par for the certificates—Judge Ellis Lewis and S. Morris Wain being named as the trustees. Four of the committee recommend that the bondholders accept the propositions suggested. Judge Lewis, whose only interest in the company is as a first bondholder, non-concurred, and a resolution was subsequently offered, declaring that the 1st mortgage bonds should be exempt from the committee's report, but was superceded by the adoption of a resolution recommending that the report of the committee be adopted. Pursuant to a resolution of the original meeting of bondholders, Judge Lewis and Joseph H. Trotter were nominated as directors for the two vacant chairs at the board. The investigating committee report the road in good condition and the trains running with great regularity. A statement was submitted by the treasurer, showing the number of consolidated bonds deposited by the trustees in the Fidelity Insurance Company, for the redemption of the 1st and 2d mortgage bonds and coupon scrip, and the disposition made of the remainder, of which the following is a brief synopsis:

Total amount of consolidated mortgage.....	$1,500,000
Deposited by the trustee in the Fidelity Insurance Co's safe for the redemption of 1st and 2nd mortgage bonds.....	$551,000
Exchanged for 1st and 2nd mortgage bonds.....	215,500
Exchanged for coupon scrip...	92,500
Out as collateral.....	217,000
Stolen.....	1,000
	$1,079,000
	$1,2,000

The balance, $422,000, were sold at an average of about 70 per cent., and the proceeds used in the payment for the Bedford Railroad and new road on Six Mile Run, in purchase of machinery for machine shop and road, erection of new engine house, increase of sidings, reduction of floating debt, &c.—Public Ledger, October 1.

TO STOP BLEEDING.—Housekeepers, farmers, mechanics, every body don't care to know how to stop the flow of blood from a cut or wound. Here's the remedy: take the fine dust of tea and bind it close to the wound. After the blood ceases to flow, laudanum may be advantageously applied to the wound. Due regard to these instructions in the absence of medical skill, might save many lives.

BOOKS OF FICTION FOR CHILDREN.

The London Quarterly Review remarks: "The mind of a child," says a wise thinker, "it like the acorn; its powers are folded up, they do not yet appear, but they are all there. The memory, the invention, the feeling of right and wrong, are all in his mind, even of an infant just born. One by one they awake." His imagination—one of the earliest powers that awakens within him, even before he has passed through the mysteries of pap and found out that being naughty differs from being good—must be fed And fed it will be; either on the make believe talk of his sister Mary nursing her doll, the idle stories of Betsey the nursemaid when he is naughty about the "bogey" and the "black man" who carries off bad boys; or about the golden fairy who is to give him taffey and gingerbread—when he is good. By and by, as he grows older, his sister Mary reads to him, and at last he learns to read for himself, the charming adventures of the "Fox and the Crow," "Billy-goat Gruff" "Sinbad the Sailor," or Diamonds and Pearls;" the delicious history of "Puss in Boots," the tragedy of "Blue Beard," or the heroic drama of "Jack the Giant-killer."

But whichever of these, or a hundred other such delightful pages, it be, his faith is boundless. Happiest of mortals, for a time at least, he can believe all he reads: with the one happy proviso that if it is not true, it ought to be, ay, and is, because his sister says so. While he is absorbed in the misfortunes of the "Tin Soldier," or the "Ugly Duck," the breakfast bell is unheard, and dinner unheeded; he is feasting in Dreamland, on stir about in the Giant's Castle, or those famous cheese-cakes of Queen Scheherezade, whose vital charm was pepper. Not that he was forgetful of fact, even while in the full pursuit of fiction. Indeed, he is always burning for facts. He wishes to know what glass is, where Robinson Crusoe was buried, how much gold it takes to make the inside of a watch, why the sun sets later in June than in December, what thunder is, if the end of the rainbow touches the ground, why the firing off a cannon once made a man deaf, what sago is, and a thousand other things, which papa, not being a walking encyclopædia, is not always ready to tell him. And whatever answer he can obtain he is ready to believe implicitly, as long as he is dealt fairly with.

Yet, though, St. George and the Dragon, Ali Baba and Robison Crusoe, are in one sense as true to him as the history of England, there are shades and degrees of belief in his own mind both as regards the domains of fact and fiction, which he cannot perhaps define, and of which he is scarcely sensible, yet on which he unconsciously acts; setting each narrative or story, tale or fable, romance or chronicle, in its own due place, and giving to each his own royal favor and approval as good, bad, or indifferent. A child in good sound health is insatiably curious, his thirst for fiction of one shape or other is quenchless, and if he never asks questions, and cares nothing for "Jack and the Beanstalk" or the "Lad who went to the North Wind," there is a screw loose somewhere or other; he is in a morbid, unhealthy state of body or mind, probably both; his natural growth and tastes as a child are becoming stunted and diseased—forced into some narrow, petty channel, where ignorance or bigotry will soon blot out the freshness, grace and light, that are childhood's most precious possessions.

MARRIAGE AND THE SABBATH.

Vestiges of Eden are rare; yet two institutions have survived the wreck and have come down to us, witnesses of that happy and perfect condition in which they originated. These are the marriage relations and the Sabbath. As the bunch of grapes from Eshcol was a visible testimony to Israel of the fertility of Canaan; so do these divine appointments remind us of the felicity of Paradise.

The marriage bond lies at the foundation of domestic happiness, is the source of home joys and pure affections, without which the world would be far more blank, and miserable, and wicked than it is. Paradise lingers with us, in a measure, in the sweet and sacred relations of the family.

The other memorial of Eden is the Sabbath—God's reservation to himself of a share of the time measured out to men by the celestial clock work—the motions of those Heavenly bodies which are for times, and for seasons, and for days, and for years. And while the hallowing of one day in seven was an assertion of God's right and authority and a memorial of His creative work, it was, at the same time, a rich benefaction conferred upon mankind. With what surpassing loveliness must that first Sabbath have been invested! With what splendor must the sun have issued forth as a bridegroom from the chambers of the east, and how must the primeval earth have rejoiced in His radiance! The rivers and lakes reflect His gladdening beams; the bright-hued flowers open their petals; the birds make the groves echo with their sweet melodies; and the parents of our race, bow down in loving adoration and glorify their beneficent Parent. No jar or discord mars the full harmony; no sound of strife or wailing; no groan nor shriek, nor sob, nor curse vexes the air; but one grand, thrilling, universal chorus of praise and love ascends to the King eternal, immortal, invisible. And now, what is so redolent of Paradise as a calm, bright Sabbath morn, when nature has just put on her robes of vernal beauty, and the busy world, hushed and peaceful, enjoys a bright respite from care and toil.—Bishop Lee.

"GRACE before meat," as the young lady said when she laced herself too tight to swallow.

THE BRIDGE OF SIGHS.

The famous Bridge of Sighs is a narrow, ornamental inclosed gallery, much higher than other bridges, connecting an upper story of the palace with the prison on the side of the narrow canal. Through one passage the prisoner is passed over to his final trial, and if he passed back again it was to his doom. At one end of this passage he sat upon a chair, a rope being fastened about his neck, which strangled him by means of a turn of the chair, after which his body was conveniently dropped through an aperture at the other end of the passage, down into the still waters below, and the time and manner of his departure from this life were not published in the morning papers.

Our first day in Venice finished by going over the city in a gondola. Our gondolier was the prince of his craft, a handsome, curly haired, broad-shouldered fellow, the skilful sweep of whose oars sent our gondola gliding with an even swiftness quite equal to one's fancy. Of all modes of getting about this is the most delicious; no jerking or rocking, but one continuous movement measured by the regular beat of the soft-plashing oar. At every narrow turn the oarsman sings out his signal to warn any one from collision, and using a single oar, swings round and sweeps on as before. But the palaces. What better is a marble palance than a granite one if it is black as iron, which is true of many of those in Venice?

Begrimed by time, by the action of the salt sea air, it is almost impossible to conceive how radiant they ever have been, except where an occasional one seems to have been furbished up, or a new, gleaming white stone reset in an almost dead black wall. Yet, from all this graceful architecture, they are beautiful in their grimness, and majestic in their desertion. The eye never tires of the beautiful balconies, graceful columns and arches, statues and ornamental carving, and above all the half unreal and spirit-like, lifting up from the water's edge of these ancient walls, in grace and beauty worthy to be poetically embalmed of Byron, and in historical interest, the home of Shakespeare's most wonderful characters.

But our gondolier plies on, resting his oar now and then to sing out monotonously the names of the noted palaces we pass, many of which are familiar. Many of these walls set straight down beneath the sea, with only a few steps at the doors where the foot meets the gondola; others have colonnades throughout their whole length, the resting pavements descending to the water, and where several such stand in succession, the promenade looks not inconvenient as well as charming. Before these are often a double set of gaily striped posts, set in water for the use of gondolas.

Here and there, rich and gay colored awnings, over windows and balconies, still spread, or looped up for the night, add picturesqueness to the scene. The shadows fall and what is bad for romance, there is no moonlight, and Venice is, apparently, too poor for any other. Here and there a a lamp in front of a palace door, throws a solitary gleam across the canal, or, from an occasional bridge, a few signals mark the way. It is deliciously cool, and the summer stars look quietly down, as they usually do, but the walls make the shadows deeper, and we pass on through darkness and silence, closing our first day in Venice at the steps of one brilliantly lighted and beautiful palace, once the home of a Doge, and now the home of the wandering stranger —Cor. Cin. Commercial.

THE RIFLE.

World-wide as is the celebrity our countrymen have derived from their skill in the use of this weapon, we doubt not but that there are many frequently and expertly employing it, who if asked to give an account of the principles which render it a superior instrument to the musket, or smooth-bore would be unable to do so in a satisfactory manner. After a long series of experiments by eminent French gunners, it was found that the same smooth-bore, immovably fixed, charged with the same amount and quality of powder, and loaded with bullets cast in the same mould, did not plant its contents in the same spot, with the mark at the same distance. The variation in some instances was remarkable. To account for this it can only be said, that no bullet is or can be cast perfectly spherical; and, therefore, one side will be heavier than another, causing the bullet to swerve from the direct line of its projection. The defect in the smooth bore is remedied by the rifle in the following manner. The barrel of a rifle, as it is grooved, forms a hollow screw. As the bullet is forced over the grooves in the process of loading, it becomes indented with the, (or, rather, the buckskin enveloping it becomes so,) and is converted into a screw also. When fired, it of course receives a rotary motion, so that if it swerves with one twist of the grooves, another revolution corrects the error. Besides its spiral and straight forward motion, the discharged ball, as being subject to the laws of gravity, has a tendency towards the earth. A rifle-ball, of which thirty will make up a pound, falls about a foot in 100 yards. Rifles, therefore; are sighted to correct this deviation. On leaving the barrel, the ball moves above the direct line of sight, continually falling in a parabolic curve, until it intersects that line; and this point of intersection is what is called the point-blank.—Home Gazette.

THAT was a beautiful idea in the mind of the little girl who, on beholding a rosebud, on the topmost stem of which the oldest rose was fading, whilst below and around it three beautiful crimson buds were just unfolding their charms at once, earnestly exclaimed to her brother; "See Willie, those little buds have just awakened in time to kiss their mother before she dies."

THE WONDERS OF ANCIENT ROME.

Modern writers, taking London and Paris for their measure of material civilization, seem unwilling to admit that Rome could have reached such a pitch of glory, and wealth, and power. To him who stands within the narrow limits of the Forum, as it now appears, it seems incredible that it could have been the centre of a much larger city than Europe can now boast of. Grave historians are loth to compromise their dignity and character for truth, by admitting statements which seem, to men of limited views, to be fabulous, and which transcend modern experience. But we should remember that most of the monuments of ancient Rome have entirely disappeared. Nothing remains of the Palace of the Cæsars, which nearly covered the Palatine Hill; little of the fora which connected together, covered a space twice as large as that inclosed by the palaces of the Louvre and Tuilleries with all their galleries and courts; almost nothing of the glories of the Capitoline Hill; and little comparatively of those of Thermæ which were a mile in circuit. But what does remain attest an unparalled grandeur—the broken pillars of the Forum; the lofty columns of Trajan and Marcus Aurelius; the Pantheon, lifting its spacious dome 200 feet into the air; the mere vestibule of the Baths of Agrippa; the triumphal arches of Titus and Trajan and Constantine; the bridges which span the Tiber; the aqueducts which cross the Campagna; the Cloaca Maxima, which drained the marshes and lakes of the infant city; but, above all, the Colosseum. What glory and shame are associated with that single edifice! That alone, if nothing else remained of Pagan antiquity, would indicate a grandeur and a folly such as cannot now be seen on earth. It reveals a wonderful skill in masonry, and great architectural strength; it shows the wealth and resources of rulers who must have had the treasures of the world at their command; it indicates an enormous population, since it would seat all the male adults of the city of New York; it shows the restless passions of the people for excitement, and the necessity on the part of Government of yielding to this taste. What leisure and indolence marked a city which could afford to give up so much time to demoralizing sports! What facilities for transportation was afforded, when so many wild beasts could be brought to the capital from the central parts of Africa, without calling out unusual comment! How imperious a populace that compels the Government to provide such expensive pleasures! —Hours at Home.

RELIGION IN POLITICS.

However men differ as to introducing politics into religion, none deny that religion should be brought into politics.

National questions, especially as managed by professional politicians, need the infusion of Christian principle, to prevent their utter perversion to selfish ends. And now, when the passions are excited and the nation is passing through a vital crisis in its existence, there is imperative need of the restraining and elevating power of religion in every act which bears upon our destiny as a people.

Christian men should show their Christian spirit in talking upon national questions in defending the principles they adopt, in selecting their candidates for office, in conducting the canvass, and in submitting to the result. And yet do they not often seem to forget God's presence and their own accustomed moderation, when the exciting questions of national import come up for discussion? If God is universal Governor, and takes an overruling interest in the affairs of nations, as in the welfare of his church, why should we not refer to him all national questions in faith and earnest prayer, as we do the question of our own salvation or the prosperity of his spiritual kingdom? This is specially important when it is admitted that the organs governing as well as expressing political opinion are generally controlled by worldly principles, while many of them are in the interest of concealed, if not open infidelity.

Let the Christian principle, Christian feeling, and Christian action of all good people be brought to bear upon our exciting political contests, to moderate and elevate their tone of discussion and line of action; and let prayer be offered to God incessantly for his guidance, as was done during the war, and we may confidently look for the right results. There cannot be too much religion in politics.—American Messenger.

MARRIAGE AND HOUSEKEEPING.—There are a great many persons that are just beginning life, that are newly married, and that are just turning, I trust away from the hotel and the boarding house to keep house; for I think that next to virtue, house-keeping is the desirable thing for newly married persons. You will perhaps wonder what I have to say on this. I have this to say, that to any young person's life this is a change so marked, it is a step so different to any other, that if you know how, with this peculiar and critical step of your life, to take also one other, it will not be alone marrying for time—it will be love for eternity. Is there anything more beautiful than true love? No flowers show such colors or exhale such fragrance as does true love, that makes one's life a sacrifice for and a service of another. Is there anything more beautiful this side of God's throne, than two right minded and purely-loving souls beginning to live together, each one servant in love to the other? Now, just beginning a virtuous, wedded life is not religion; but if you make this first step in a series, it will do more to lead to a Christian course of life than perhaps any other thing possibly could.—Beecher.

WHAT do the sailers do with the knots the ship makes in a day?

A SURE WAY TO MAKE CRIMINALS.

It would seem as if the vile deeds of wicked men, which alike by reason and law place them beyond the pale of decent society, should be deplored and condemned by all right minded men, especially by those who largely form or direct public opinion. But strange to say, many of our public journals not only take delight in parading before their readers the long and disgusting catalogue of crimes that from day to day throw their fearful shadow upon the civilization of our Christian land, but do it in a way deserving of severe and general reprobation. Instead of allowing the details of sin and shame to slumber in the records of the police courts, they hasten to announce them to the world. Their object, however, seems not to be to make vice hideous and repulsive but rather as something to be laughed at if not attractive. Hence they employ the art of their skilled writers in dressing out the disgraceful particulars, seeking to excite a smile by feeble wit or paltry puns at that which should only awaken sorrow and tears. And this offensive accord of vice goes directly into the family circle with its noisome and corrupting influence.

But as if these highly colored descriptions were not enough, there are papers specially devoted to the chronicling of crime, which are not content with giving full particulars of the horrible and demoralizing incidents, but engage also the engraver's art in depicting the dreadful scenes to the eye. It can scarcely be imagined that this is designed to be in the interest of virtue. Whether it is a deliberate intention to pander to the most corrupt taste of the basest and most abandoned or not, the result is obvious. It is heart-sickening to see the crowds of unsuspecting youth around the bulletins of these "public poisoners," gazing upon the exaggerated representations of villany and crime, too often of deeds that it is a shame even to think of, thus being insensibly allured to enter the downward road to ruin and death. And it is humiliating to think that there are those wearing the form of men, who, for the sake of gain, can attempt to create or pander to a vicious and licentious taste; can awaken the morbid appetite whose cravings soon become insatiable, till its debased victim finds no relish in what is beautiful and virtuous, and is only satisfied when it can "sup on horrors."

The responsibility of conductors of the public press cannot be overestimated. Crime is a fearful fact in this fallen world, and it is useless to attempt to conceal it. But those journals that by pen or pencil seek only to hold it up to ridicule, or by their representations fascinate and allure, rather than frighten the innocent and unwary from its commission, are recreant to the duty of their high calling. It is notorious that many have been led into a career of crime by reading the lives of noted criminals; and editors and publishers whose presses teem with the records of the scenes of horror and vice that abound in the land, may be guilty of the fall and ruin of some whom their ill-judged exposure of crime has seduced to its commission. The words of the poet are a fearful but true commentary upon our poor human nature:

"Vice is a monster of such hideous mien,
That to be hated needs but to be seen;
But seen too oft, familiar with its face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace."
American Messenger.

REPRODUCTION OF FORMS.

In a number of the London Mechanic's Magazine is the following curious statement, said to be an extract from a work of Oinger, entitled, "Thoughts on the two faculties of Feeling and Knowledge:"

"I chopped up some balm, put it into a large glass retort, poured rain water upon it connected the retort with a good sized receiver, and let it heat at a cuppel, gently at first, then more strongly. Upon this there went into the water a yellow greenish oil; it took up the whole space of the receiver, and swam on the surface of the water the thickness of the back of a table knife. This oil had the form of innumerable balm leaves, which did not lap over or run into one another but lay side by side, each perfectly drawn, and with the distinctness of all the lines of a balm leaf. I let it stand a long time, that all about me might observe it. At last I shook the receiver, because I had to pour it out; the leaves ran together, but in less than a minute restored themselves to their natural position more distinctly."

A writer in the Magazine follows the quotation by saying:

"Chemists show that the palingenese (being born again) or the resurrection of plants is very possible. Able chemists in great numbers have made experiments by which placing the ashes of a plant in a phial, these ashes exhale and arrange themselves as nearly as they can in the very figure which the Author of nature first impressed upon them.

"Gallerel, a very able chemist, states that M. Duchine, one of the best chemists of the age, reported that he had seen a very able physician in Cracow, who kept in phials ashes of almost all plants, so that when any curious person desired to see, for example a rose in a phial; he took one containing the ashes of a rose well preserved, and warming it over a lighted candle, the ashes were seen to move, A little cloud arose, and after some motion of the phial, soon assumed the form and color of the rose, so fresh and so perfect and beautiful that one would believe he could smell its sweet odor."

WOULDN'T TAKE TWENTY DOLLARS.

Some waggish students at Yale College, a few years since, were regaling themselves one evening at the "Tontine," when an old farmer from the country entered the room (taking it for the bar room) and inquired if he could obtain lodging. The young chaps immediately answered in the affirmative, inviting him to take a glass of punch. The old fellow, who was a shrewd Yankee, saw at once that he was to be made the butt of their jests, but quietly laying off his hat and telling a worthless little dog he had with him to lie under the chair, he took a glass of the proffered beverage. The students anxiously inquired after the health of the old man's wife and children, and the farmer, with affected simplicity, gave them the whole pedigree. with numerous anecdotes about his farm, stock, &c.

"Do you belong to the church?" asked one of the wags.

"Yes, the Lord be praised, and so did my father before me."

"Well, I suppose you would not tell a lie?" replied the student.

"Not for the world," added the farmer.

"Now what will you take for that dog?" pointing to the farmer's cur, who was not worth his weight in Jersey mud.

"I would not take twenty dollars for that dog."

"Twenty dollars? why, he is not worth twenty cents."

"Well, I assure you I would not take twenty dollars for him."

"Come my friend," said the student, who with his companions was bent on having some capital fun with the old man. "Now you say you won't tell a lie for the world, let me see if you will not do it for twenty dollars. I'll give you twenty dollars for your dog."

"I'll not take it," replied the farmer.

"You will not? Here, let us see if this won't tempt you to tell a lie," added the student, producing a small bag of half dollars, from which he counted small piles on the table, where the farmer sat with his hat in his hand, apparently unconcerned "There," added the student, "there are twenty dollars all in silver. I will give you that for your dog."

The old farmer quietly raised his hat to the edge of the table, and then as quick as thought scraped all the money into it except one half dollar, at the same time exclaiming, "I won't take your twenty dollars! Nineteen and a half is as much as the dog is worth—he is your property!"

A tremendous laugh from his fellow students showed the world he was that he was completely "done up," and that he need not look for help from that quarter, so he good naturedly acknowledged beat, insisted on the old farmer taking another glass, and they parted in great glee—the student retaining his dog, which he keeps to this day, as a lesson to him never to attempt to play tricks on men older than himself, and especially to be careful how he tries to wheedle a Yankee farmer.

TRAVELERS.—I am not much of an advocate for travelling, and I observe that men run away to other countries because they are not good in their own, and run back to their own because they pass for nothing in the new places. For the most part only the light characters travel. Who are you that have no task to keep you at home? I have been quoted as saying captious things about travel; but I mean to do justice. I think there is a restlessness in our people which argues want of character. All educated Americans, first or last, go to Europe; —perhaps because it is their mental home, as the invalid-habits of this country might suggest.

An eminent teacher of girls said, "The idea of a girl's education is, whatever qualifies her for going to Europe." Can we never extract this tape-worm of Europe from the brain of our countrymen? One sees very well what their fate must be. He that does not fill a place at home, cannot abroad. He only goes there to hide his insignificance in a larger crowd. You do not think you will find any thing there which you have not seen at home?' The staff of all countries is just the same. Do you suppose there is any country where they do not scald milk-pans, and swaddle the infants, and burn the brush-wood, and broil the fish? What is true anywhere is true everywhere. And let him go where he will, he can only find so much beauty or worth as he carries.—Emerson.

GOOD ADVICE.—Barbarism must give way to Christianity. Every human being has an interest at stake. Each should do something, and come up promptly to do the work allotted him. There is no place for idlers in God's great vineyard. Let each put his shoulder to the wheel and help set the world ahead. Reader, what are you doing? Are your faculties being used? Remember the parable of the talents! The right use of what you have will be the measure of your reward. He who does little or nothing for the good of himself or his fellows will find little or nothing to his credit in the Book of Life. You who have realized the truth that it is more blessed to give—and to do—than to receive, will need no urging from us.

Are you inventive? Give the world the benefit of it. You will be none the poorer, but much richer, in gratitude to God. Are you mechanical? Build yourself a monument in the hearts of the people. Are you a preacher? Exhort, preach and pray, "Let thy kingdom come." Are you rich? "Let your light shine that others may see your good works and glorify your Father in heaven." Are you a publisher? Print only good books. A merchant? Weigh your goods on the scales of justice. A parent or a teacher? Remember, example is more powerful than precept.—Phrenological Jour.

BEDFORD, PA., FRIDAY, OCT. 18, 1867

THE RESULT OF APATHY.

The latest election news gives Sharswood a majority of 802. This result may be changed if the fraudulent Copperhead votes in Philadelphia, of which there are reported to be about 3,000, are rejected. But despite the fraudulent votes our defeat is alone the result of apathy and indifference on the part of the Republican voters of the State. Taking our own county as a criterion by which to judge, and there are many that have done worse, we find that while there is only a falling off in the Copperhead vote of 191, in the Republican there is a deficiency of 286. The Copperhead vote this year is 2644 while the Republican is only 2305. Last year the Copperhead vote was 2835 and the Republican 2591. Now if the Republican vote this year as compared with that of last, had been as full in proportion as the Copperhead, we would have had 166 more votes, and the Copperhead majority instead of 339 would have been but 219. That is, instead of gaining 95 on last year's vote they would have lost 25. Thus much for the apathy of Bedford County Republicans. Just such conduct throughout the state has lost us, in all probability, a Supreme Judge. If we had been as active and had got out as full a vote in proportion all over the state as the Copperheads in this county, all of which could easily have been done, instead of losing the State by 802 we would have carried it by more than 14,000. Let Republicans ponder these facts and not despair, but go to work to redeem what, through negligence, they have lost. The task will be a light one if entered upon with energy and zeal. In 1862 we were in a similar manner beaten by a Copperhead majority in the State of 3,524 though in 1860 we had carried it by 59,618. Awakened from our dreams of fancied security and alarmed for the safety of the country we went to work at once and in 1863 the state was carried by a Republican majority 15,325 which was increased in 1864 to 20,075 and in 1865 to 22,660. What has been done can be done again. Awake then Republicans! Shake off the lethargy that has already imperiled the great work of reconstruction and through it the life of the nation. Go to work with the zeal and energy of freemen determined to preserve their freedom. Labor in behalf of humanity, justice, liberty, peace, union and free institutions. Remember that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, that activity is an indispensable condition of political as well as natural life. Nothing is wanting but a reasonable degree of energy in the Presidential Campaign of 1868 to give us at least 20,000 majority in Pennsylvania. It can and must be done, so "pick your flints and try it again."

AMENDMENT OF THE PENSION LAWS AND THE OBSTINACY OF THE PENSION OFFICE.

One should think that the experience of the Government of the United States in granting Pensions to the widows and orphans of deceased Soldiers, had at least approximated to a perfect system, a system that would do equal and exact justice to the unfortunate who have been thrown upon the world by the casualties of war, and whom the Government is in honor bound to support, yet there are thousands of widows and orphans, the victims of the late rebellion, whose happy homes have been broken up, the mother sent to labor for her daily bread, and her little ones to become the drudges of those in better circumstances. Why is this? Because Congress has neglected to make the necessary provision for evidence out-side of the evidence required by the inexorable rules of the Pension Office. We will state a case: A was drafted, reported, passed an examination and was held to service. He sickens shortly after being sent to the front, is sent to the hospital and dies of Consumption. The Pension office demands medical testimony to the effect that he contracted the disease in the service. No one knows and the claim is suspended. His widow and children are the outraged victims of a relentless Conscription, they have been sent from a home of comfort to beg their way through the world, because the Government, through its sublime "Circumlocution office," presided over by Mr. Barrett, refuses to give the little pittance which it pledged to pay these unfortunates, when it relentlessly took away their support, in case it did not return him. We can cite a score of cases, all of which have inflicted beggary upon those who were, prior to the war, dependent on strong arms and warm hearts and who lived in happiness and contentment.

If Congress does not do something to relieve these distressed creatures we suggest that the Pension office be abolished. If one is relieved all should be relieved. If the cases, of which we speak, were isolated and far between, it would be quite a different thing. But they are very numerous. We do not hold the Pension office blameless either in this matter. A great amount of the distress is caused by its everlasting delays and its red-tape. Here is a case as an instance: B enlisted early in the war and disappeared in a skirmish at Hagerstown, Maryland. He was not found on the field after the action and his officer reported him missing. He was afterwards seen by a person who knew him at Andersonville, Georgia, who swears that he was in a dying condition but did not see him die or after death. The case is suspended year in and year out for evidence of death. We do not think that Mr. Barrett is always cognizant of such cases, but it should be the duty of the head of that office to see that his examiners do their duty by those who are the nation's special charge. We are satisfied that examiners become prejudiced against a case and they fight it as if the integrity of the Government depended upon the granting of a single Pension, and while this is going on at Washington, the helpless on the other end of the line are starving. There appears to be as little soul and humanity in the Pension office as there is in an ice-berg.

We call upon Congress immediately upon its meeting in November to pass a law authorizing the Pension office to settle all this class of claims without any further unreasonable delay. Unless this is done we have no idea how many, very many, soldiers' widows and orphans are to get through the winter. However, whether they can get through or not, it is a shame that the Government of the United States should thus violate its plighted faith with those whom it has bereft of their all and thus reduced them from comparative ease to beggary.

MORAL REFORMS AND POLITICAL PARTIES.

The loses of the Republican Party in the recent elections have been made the subject of discussion by the press of both parties. Various causes have been assigned to account for them. Taking both sides we find the causes altogether sum up about as follows—apathy in the Republican ranks, the effort to elevate the negro and grant him the same protection of person and property as the white men—to restrain the tide of drunkenness and crime that is flooding the land, by stringent license laws, and to sustain the time honored and divinely commanded observance of the Sabbath day. These embrace the sum of the worst charges that even our enemies can make against us. Apathy in times, such as the present, is scarcely less than a crime. With this exception no party ever has been or even will be finally defeated while it preserves such a record in the face of the most bitter enmity. Such charges coming from its enemies constitute the most eloquent tribute that any political party either in the past or the present has ever received. The Republican party has never countenanced the bringing of moral questions into the political arena, but the leaders and the great majority of the party being eminently moral and sober, its enemies have persistently charged upon it a desire to interfere with the laws on these subjects, thereby hoping so to identify the Republicans as the originators and upholders of all laws imposing moral restraints upon the people, as to bring all the opposers of these movements, the Sabbath breaker, and the drunkard into their ranks. In this they have in a measure succeeded. The Republican party may well be proud of its peculiar position in this respect. It is a noble one and to its truthfulness its enemies bear willing testimony. But it is not a good omen for the country when political parties each striving for the management of the government of the country, endeavor to array the friends of any moral reform movement on one side or the other. The inevitable result of any such effort is to limit the usefulness and success of the movement and at the same time embitter political contests. It is certainly much better that each party should avoid pandering to vice and immorality for political purposes, and that there should be a sufficient sober, moral, peacable, and law abiding element in any party to direct its policy in the interest of the great moral principles underlying all Government and which are the recognized conservators of our religious and civil liberty.

THE Copperheads of Pennsylvania have been unceasing in their charges of corruption against the Republican party. The party has never existed in which corrupt men did not find a place and probably never will. Even in the Pennsylvania Legislature the few Copperheads that are there show a larger proportion of corrupt men than the Republicans if their votes for the monoply, the chief criterion, are to be taken as an index. Another difference is the Republican, while exposing the corruption of the opposition dare to denounce and oust whenever possible such of their own number as are found wanting in integrity. The Cops invariably refuse to see the corruption of their own members and do their utmost to hide it from the honest men of their own party

THE time has come when the independent Republican Press of Pennsylvania should throw overboard the dead weight of factionalism which has characterized a number of its leaders. The Republican Party has been carrying too much dead weight and we call upon our cotemporaries to assist us in ignoring it. We have been the tools of a few men much too long and the injury is almost irreparable. There is brains enough and money enough in the party to sustain it without it being the vehicle of a few leaders who know nothing but self.

THE Republican party in the canvass, which has just closed, was charged with being in favor of temperance, Sunday liquor laws, opposed to Sunday cars and every measure intended as reforms according to their acceptation by the public. A friend suggests that we have been fighting the devil and the Copperhead party about long enough, and that in the future we had better turn our attention to the Copperhead party alone. This is no doubt a very good suggestion because the defeat of that party will be sufficient humiliation for his Satanic majesty.

THE Cops by out-generaling the Republicans most handsomely, getting out almost their entire vote, have a beggarly majority of six or eight hundred in the State. What chance will they have in a contest in which the Republicans get out their vote? A friend used to illustrate matters of this kind by saying "about as much chance as a cat in tophet without claws."

THEY never have any Agricultural Fairs in Fulton County or they would have better specimens of poultry. This is evident from the hard specimen exhibited by the Democrat last week. That foul looked as if he had been into a severe fight and escaped with nothing but the mere skeleton.

THE Philadelphia daily News contains an article headed a "Mad Dog." We don't know any better subject for just such a caption than the editor of the News, provided the orthography of the adjective were reversed.

THE Republicans of Ohio have elected their candidate for Governor, Gen. Hayes, by a majority of three or four thousand. They have carried Iowa, also, by a majority of twenty-five thousand. All is not lost that is in danger.

THE Pittsburgh Post thinks "The day of Reason" has come. Tom Paine thought it was the "AGE of Reason." Copperheads and infidels accord in views.

COPPER-JOHNSON PEOGRAMME DEVELOPING.—Since the election the Cops of this region are already busy discussing their next Presidential ticket. The latest proposition, and the one received with most favor is to nominate Johnson for President and Gen. Lee for Vice President. We expect to see Jeff Davis substituted instead of Johnson. A pure rebel ticket will no doubt be most popular with them.

WE would call attention to an article in another column from the Pittsburgh Commercial, relative to the organization of a new railroad project for the southern tier of counties. We hope that the project will be successfully put on foot and our people will do all they can pecuniarily to assist in its construction.

THE Pittsburgh Post gets up a Copperhead pyramid, which we presume it does on the principle of a robber, who has, after considerable fight, appropriated the goods of another and exclaims "these are my goods." For instance, Ohio, Iowa, Maine, &c., &c.,

THE Elections in Louisiana and Alabama have resulted in considerable majorities for Conventions to amend the Consttntions of those states in accordance with the provisions of the Reconstruction law.

THE Pittsburgh Post says the election news was received with great pleasure in Richmond, Virginia. The unreconstructed rebels receive Copperhead victories with as much gusto and jubilation as they did during the rebellion.

THE Copperhead Party sustains the unenviable record of pandering to every evil prejudice, passion, wickedness and crime for the purpose of making votes. Can such a Party triumph?

ALMOST every Irishman you meet hurrahs for the Fenians and damns the "Nagur." They favor freedom for themselves and their friends, and slavery for the negroes. Strange consistency.

THE Cops have gone back on Andy since the elections and Andy has done likewise with them. Both parties have resolved themselves into a mutual admiration society.

IN the Republican State Convention at Baltimore, a resolution was adopted sixty-four to seventeen, recommending the nomination of General GRANT for President.

CAPT. HELM should see that the editor of the Gazette does not exhibit his menagerie without a license.

EX-ADJUTANT GENERAL RUSSELL.—When A. L. Russel was called to take charge of the Adjutant General's office of Pennsylvania, from seeing a mere nominal position whose duties required only a supervision of one or two State arsenals, it had suddenly grown to that of a department holding sway over a hundred thousand soldiers. It will be inferred from this simple fact that it required a man of more than ordinary ability, a hand of more than everyday business power to comprehend the workings and guide the development of such an operation. But Gen. Russell at once made himself master of the situation. He had sagacity, energy, fore-sight and inflexible will, while at the same time, even when seemingly unbending in the performance of his delicate duties, no man can say that he ever received from Alexander L. Russell other than the most courteous treatment, nor can any soldier assert that he ever suffered a wrong at his hands. We write this because we know exactly what we record; and because we desire to do a faithful officer justice on his retirement. Gen. Russell will always have reason to be proud of his official acts. His energy aided largely in getting out Pennsylvania troops, and his promptness contributed greatly in putting those troops into the field. These are historical facts which will be elaborated more fully when the history of Pennsylvania's great service to the Government is written.

We part with Gen. Russell with regret. His social relations in Harrisburg have always been of the best, and few men have served in official connection in this city, who left Harrisburg with more of the good wishes of the people than Gen. Russell will take away.

—We understand Gen. Russell is a candidate for Clerk of the House. He has ample ability for that position, having heretofore served as Clerk of the same body.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

AN EXAMPLE FOR CHRISTIAN RULERS.—While the Greek Catholics, the Maronites, and even the Mohammedans of Syria strictly observe the Sabbath, suspending all ordinary business and labor, then Roman catholics generally spend it in amusement and dissipation. During the Easter festivities, the Mohammedan governor of Mount Lebanon visited the town of Der el Kamer, and was called upon by the Roman catholic bishops and priests. During the interview he complained that the shops of their parishioners were kept open on Sunday, and business went on as on other days, greatly to the detriment of the people. They replied that they could not stop it, as the people would not obey them, when he said that he would help them enforce obedience, and would imprison any man who opened his shop on that day. The order was issued and executed, and after a few arrests the nuisance was abated.

THE WEST SENDING LIGHT TO THE EAST.—The Japanese, once the most seclusive, bid fair to become the most enlightened of Eastern nations. They are sending to this country and Europe deputations of their eminent men to investigate and become familiar with the improvements of modern civilization, and several of their intelligent young men are now pursuing their education here. Six well-educated young men of rank are in the academy at Monson, Mass., under the patronage of the leading prince of Japan for the purpose of acquiring a thorough knowledge of the English language. It is gratifying to know that, without any attempt at proselyting them, their own logical perceptions have already traced the superiority of the Western nations to the elevating influences of Christianity.

PERSECUTION OF JEWS.—The Jews of Roumania have been the victims of bitter persecution, at the instigation of the government, whose Minister of the Interior, M. Bratiano, had been a prominent liberal before his accession to power. He has ordered that they be deprived of their legal rights and expelled from their farms and houses, and arrested as rogues and vagabonds. This so excited the fanaticism of the people that a general massacre was threatened. The governments of England and France have interfered in their behalf.

ALL THAT GLITTERS IS NOT GOLD.—The business of counterfeiting precious jewels is carried on very extensively and successfully. There are several large manufactories in Paris, and two-thirds of the French jewel department in the exposition was occupied by sham jewelry. In one case there were six rows of pearls, three real pearls worth 15,000 francs, and three artificial worth 150 francs; yet only a jeweller or a pawnbroker could distinguish the true from the false, showing how easily the unskilled can be deceived in these beautiful articles of luxury.

WHERE THE GOLD GOES.—It has been estimated that 15 per cent of the annual gold product is melted down for manufactures, 35 per cent goes to Europe, 25 to Cuba, 15 to Brazil, and 5 per cent to China, Japan, and the East Indies, leaving but 5 per cent for circulation in this country. Of that which goes to Cuba and Brazil, full 50 per cent finds its way to Europe, four-fifths of which is exported to India, where, as has been the custom for ages, it is absorbed and hoarded up, and never returns to the civilized world.

BANK-NOTE ENGRAVING.—The mechanical and artistic skill employed upon the bank notes of this country, exceeds that of any other country in the world. Those of England and France are rude in comparison. The finest and best steel engraving is done in New York, and as the result, the American Bank note Company furnishes paper-money to a large part of the civilized world Russia, Italy, Greece, the British Provinces, Brazil, Nicaraugua, the South American Republics, Mexico, and the United States gogernment have their paper-money engraved here.

WHAT MAKES PRISONS NECESSARY.—Rev. Mr. Ives, who has been chaplain of the New York State Prison at Auburn, says it is his firm belief, that if the sale of intoxicating liquors could be stopped, Auburn and Clinton prisons could be used for agricultural colleges in five years from the present time.

NOTICE OF INQUISITION.—Whereas, Peter Rowser, son and heir at law of John Rowser, late of Napier township, Bedford county, deceased, presented a petition setting forth that the said John Rowser, late died intestate, leaving a widow, Mary Rowser, and four children, to wit: Mrs. Elizabeth Rowser, residing in Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, Peter Rowser, the petitioner, Rachael Rowser and John Rowser and seven Grand children, all except Elizabeth residing in Bedford county, Penn'a. That the said intestate died seized in his demesne as of fee and in the following described Real Estate, situate in Napier township, Bedford county, bounded by lands of Peter Rowser, Jacob W. Miller, Joseph Howit's heirs and others, containing two hundred and fifty acres, more or less, with the appurtenances, and pray the Court to make partition of the premises aforesaid to and amongst the heirs. Whereupon the Court awarded an Inquest to make partition according to the prayer of the petioner.

NOTICE is hereby given that in pursuance of a writ of partition or valuation to me directed, I will proceed to hold an Inquisition on the premisis on Friday the 25th day of October, A. D. 1867, at 10 o'clock A. M., when and where all persons interested may attend if they see proper.

VALUABLE BROAD TOP COAL LANDS FOR SALE.

Estate of John N. Lane, late of the City of Lancaster, deceased.

Pursuant to an alias order of the Orphan's court of Bedford county, Penn'a, the Administrators of the estate of said deceased, will sell peremptorily on THURSDAY, the 31st day of October, 1867, at 12 o'clock, M., at the Court House, in the town of Bedford, Pennsylvania, several tracts of Coal Land containing upwards of situated in Broad Top township, Bedford county.

Six of the tracts are situated contiguous on Sandy Run, which empties into the Raystown branch of the Juniata, near above Hopewell, on the Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad, a branch of which road has been graded up said run to or near said land. These six tracts are all good coal lands and form one of the best coal estates in the Broad Top coal field, and can be mined on Sandy Run and Six Mile Run. They can be mined together, or each of the tracts can be mined separately, advantageously.

The remaining tract is situated several miles from the above tracts, near the head of Sandy Run; is a good coal tract and set with excellent timber.

Persons detiring to purchase are referred to Mr. Roberts or Mr. Fulton, Engineers and Geologists, who have examined the lands.

A map of the lands can be seen or had by applying to the undersigned.

Any further information desired before the sale can be had by addressing the Administrators, at Lancaster, Pa., or the Hon. Samuel L. Russell, at Bedford, Pa

ANOTHER RAILROAD TO PHILADELPHIA.—Important to Manufacturers and Merchants.—One of the most important bills passed by the last Legislature was "An Act to incorporate the Caledonia Iron, Land and Railroad Company."

By referring to the provisions of this act—a synopsis of which we present below to our readers—it will be seen that the Company possesses some of the most liberal privileges that can be conferred on a railroad corporation. Among others of its franchises, the company is authorized by its original charter to hold sixteen thousand acres of land, and by a supplementary act, passed at the close of the session, the company is further authorized to hold four thousand additional acres, making in all twenty thousand acres, with authority "to mortgage, lease, sell or otherwise dispose of the same, or any part thereof." The Company is also unrestricted as to the amount of capital stock, and has ample authority to construct "a railroad or railroads with branches," from their lands to connect with any other railroad now or hereafter to be built."

It is believed by the corporators of the company—among whom we find the names of several of our citizens—that every privilege and power necessary to the construction of another railroad from Pittsburg to Philadelphia, are embodied in their charter, and that an opportunity is now presented to the opponents of the Pennsylvania Railroad monopoly, whereby a competing route may be opened to connect our city with Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, by the construction of a track from Connellsville to Harrisburg—where connections may be made with the Reading and Lebanon Valley Railroads—not exceeding two hundred miles in length.

The importance of this charter cannot be over-estimated by our citizens, and the building of the road by the route indicated will produce the most happy results, in solving nearly all of the difficult railroad problems and troubles under which our manufacturers and business men have been languishing and suffering during the last fifteen years.

The corporators of the company intend visiting our city on Tuesday next, the 15th inst., to confer with the people of Western Pennsylvania on this most interesting question. The Hon. Thaddeus Stevens will be present, if his health will permit, and we trust that every citizen interested in developing the resources of this section of our State, and in favor of a new outlet to the tide-water will also be present, and by words and deeds of substantial encouragement, give practical assurance of their sympathy in every effort looking to a happy riddance from the power and influence of the great monopoly.

Below we give a synopsis of the act:—

Section first names the corporators, among whom are Thaddeus Stevens, G. Dawson Coleman, J. D. Cameron, Wm. Colder, J. W. Ahl, D. V. Ahl, S. G. Merrick, C. S. Kauffman, Henry McCormick, Edward McPherson, J. K. Moorhead and John P. Glass; also fixes the capital stock at $300,000, with power to increase the same to such an amount as may be deemed necessary.

Section second designates a Board of nine Directors to manage the business of the company.

Section third confers authority to sue and be sued, and to make all needful rules and regulations for the company.

Section fourth authorizes the appointment of any Director as agent or officer of the company.

Section fifth authorizes the company "to take, receive and hold in fee simple, or for any less estate, or upon lease, lands and mineral rights with their appurtenances, not exceeding in the whole sixteen thousand (16,000,) acres at any one time, with power to mortgage, sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the same, or any part thereof, and to execute all necessary conveyances, and the said company shall have the right to manufacture and prepare for market lumber and articles produced therefrom, and to provide and open mines, to mine and prepare for market coal, iron ore, limestone, fire clay and other minerals, or to use and consume the same, and to manufacture iron and fire bricks, and to transport all said articles, or any of them, to market, and dispose of the same, and to do all such other acts and things as may be necessary to the prosecution of said business, and also to make all such improvements and erections as a successful prosecution of said business may require."

Section sixth confers authority to "construct and operate a railroad, or railroads, with branches, from any part of their lands to connect with the Caledonia and South Mountain Railroad Company, or its branches, or with any other railroad now or hereafter to be built."

Section seventh provides for transferring stock and limiting dividends to actual profit.

Section eighth authorizes subscriptions to capital stock to be made in real and personal estate; also authorizes issue of bonds, with or without coupons, bearing interest not exceeding seven and three-tenths per centum, but no bonds to be issued for a less amount than one hundred dollars.

The act supplementary to the foregoing authorizes the purchase of any lands and property for the purpose specified in the original act, not exceeding four thousand additional acres.—Pittsburgh Commercial.

PLANTATION BITTERS will not raise the dead But they cure the sick, exalt the depressed, And render life a thing to be enjoyed.

We believe there are millions of living witnesses to this fact. Dyspepsia is a horrid disease, but Plantation Bitters will cure it. It is a most invigorating tonic, for weakness and mental despondency. Those who are "out of sorts" should try Plantation Bitters.

INFORMATION is wanted in regard to the time when, place where and circumstances under which Peter Shedron, late a private in Company H, 22nd Regiment of Pennsylvania Cavalry volunteers was wounded, and from the effects of which he died at Fredrick City, Maryland, on or about the 5th day of July, 1864. UNFORTUNATE RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—We stated on Saturday that a man was killed near Derry station on the Pennsylvania Railroad, while attempting to jump on a freight train going east. The accident, it appears, occurred near Ninevah Station, and the name of the deceased was Kellar, from Buckstown, Bedford county. He was foreman of a shook shop at Ninevah Station, and attempted to jump on the freight train for the purpose of going to Johnstown. Just as he fell, the Cincinnati Express came along from the East, at lightning speed, and struck the poor fellow in the back, mangling him in a shocking manner, and killing him instantly.—Pittsburgh Post.

TWO MONTHS FOR NOTHING.—Look at this Offer.—We have received the American Agriculturist for October. We wish that all our friends could see this paper. We know of no way in which so large an amount of truly valuable, interesting, and instructive reading matter could be given to a family at so small a price as the subscription to the Agriculturist. Each number contains 32 to 40 large quarto pages, and 30 to 50 fine engravings, many of them very costly and beautiful. Here, in this October number, we find in addition to the great amount of valuable information, hints, suggestions, etc., more than 30 engravings, several of which are among the most expensive ever found in an illustrated Journal. This number is of itself really worth a year's subscription. The cost of the American Agriculturist is only $1.50 for a year, in advance, or four copies for $5. The publishers offer that valuable journal free for the remaining two months of this year to all new subscribers for 1868, (Vol. 27,) who send in their subscription during the month of October. We advise all our readers to secure it on these terms. It will be sure to benefit all fathers and mothers, and interest and instruct the children. Subscriptions should be sent to the publishers, Orange Judd & Co., 245 Broadway, New York City.

The Truth about Dyspepsia.

Whoever says that dyspepsia is incurable, tells a—that is to say, makes an egregious mistake. More than ten thousand aggravated cases have been cured by HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, while the number that have been prevented from coming to a head, by the same means, is incalculable. In this season of the year, when the appetite is sometimes too vigorous for the comfort and safety of the stomach, indigestion is most prevalent and most distressing. Is the appetite to be balked to accommodate the digestive organs? Not so; for then the frame would lack its due proportion of nutriment. The thing to be done is to STRENGTHEN THE STOMACH, tone the liver, and put the bowels in perfect order. Nothing will do this so effectually, so rapidly, so quietly, so pleasantly, as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. This potent preparation trims and balances the system, and clothes it as it were, with defensive armor. Chronic dyspepsia, liver complaint, and fever and ague are never known to attack those who are wise enough to invoke the aid of this great preventive. oct4

Dr Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup.

This great medicine cured by Dr. J. H. Schenck the proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable, when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption, and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly won

ESTEY'S COTTAGE ORGANS

Are still ahead of all competitors and stand unrivalled in POWER, PURITY OF TONE and BRILLIANCY, and all other points which go to make a first class instrument.

The "VOX HUMANA TREMOLO" is the greatest of all modern improvements on reed instruments. It CHARMS and SURPRISES all who hear it, by its wonderful resemblance to the HUMAN VOICE. Do not confound this with the common tremolo in use. It is entirely different, and far superior to any other.

For sale wholesale and retail by.
E. M. BRUCE,
18 N. Seventh Street, Philadelphia.

☞ Send for descriptive circular and price list.

The effect of your "TREMOLO" is entirely new to me, and is certainly the best I ever heard.—Geo. W. Morgan. (The first Organist of America.

No TREMOLO has yet been invented that will in any degree compare with this for beauty of effect. In fact, it seems to me to be absolutely perfect.—Wm. A. Johnson, Pipe Organ Builder.

ESTEY'S Cottage Organs are without a superior for exceedingly quick articulation and round tone—the essential features in instruments of this class.—Geo. Jardine, Pipe Organ Builder.

The Cottage Organ is the best of its class I ever saw, and the best adapted for church music of any in use.—C. Hetzle, Organist, Findlay, O.

I am much pleased with the Cottage Organ which I purchased from you; it combines sweetness and power in an unusual degree, and is quite a favorite in our family circle.—Bishop Simpson.

We know of no organs of the class which possess so many valuable qualities.—Independent.

For the parlor, its sweetness is remarkable; for the church it has a power more organ-like than anything we have seen.—Methodist.

Persons wishing to purchase an organ are requested to examine the Esty instruments now in use at the Presbyterian and Episcopal Church, Bedford. July 12 1867 9m

VALUABLE FARM
AT PRIVATE SALE.

The subscriber wishing to move West, will sell the Farm whereon he now resides, situated on the waters of the Raystown Branch of the Juniata, in Napier township, Bedford county, Pa., ten miles west of Bedford, and 2½ miles south of Schellsburg, containing 377 acres and 8 perches, with a large double Log House, weatherboarded, large double Log Barn, with other outbuildings, thereon erected. Also, a good Tenant House on the upper end of the Farm. About 240 acres are cleared and in a good state of cultivation, the balance well timbered. About 230 acres of this land is of the best Sandy Bottom, good for either wheat, corn or grass. The balance is slate land, very good for wheat. The Drove Road passes by the door. The track of the Southern Pennsylvania Railroad passes through the farm, within a short distance of the house. There is a fine young orchard of choice fruit near the house; also, a good sugar camp on the farm, and water in nearly every field. Any person wishing to purchase a No. 1 farm will do well to look at this one, as it is one of the best for either a grain or stock farm in this part of the State. Persons wishing to look at the property can do so by calling on the subscriber living on the premises.

DENTISTRY! DENTISTRY!
A Beautiful Set of Teeth for TEN DOLLARS!
DR. H. VIRGIL PORTER,
(LATE OF NEW YORK CITY,)
DENTIST,

Would respectfully inform his numerous friends and the public generally, that he has located permanently in BLOODY RUN, where he may be found at all times prepared to insert from one tooth to a full set of his BEAUTIFUL ARTIFICIAL TEETH on new and improved atmospheric principles.

The TRIUMPH OF MECHANICAL DENTISTRY RUBBER for the basis of artificial teeth.

This discovery which has met with such universal approval throughout this and other countries, has seemingly placed ARTIFICIAL TEETH at the disposal of all who require them. DR. PORTER is now inserting the most BEAUTIFUL and DURABLE at prices ranging from per set. Temporary sets inserted if desired. All operation warranted.

Ten to Eighteen Dollars

☞ Teeth extracted without pain by the use of NITROUS OXIDE or LAUGHING GAS.

This is no humbug, but a positive fact. Gas administered fresh every day. As the Gas administered by Dr. Porter is prepared in accordance with the purifying method of Dr. Strong, of New Haven, Ct., and Prof. Silliman (late Professor of Chemistry in Yale College) he has no hesitation in asserting that it is attended with no danger whatever. Persons desiring the services of a Dentist would promote their own interest by calling upon Dr. Porter, as he is determined to spare no effort to please the most fastidious. Dr. Porter's mode of operating will at all times be of the mildest character, avoiding the infliction of the slightest unnecessary pain, and carefully adapted to the age, constitution, health and nervous condition of the patient.

☞ Special attention is invited to Dr. Porter's scientific method of preserving decayed and aching teeth. Teeth blackened and diseased, cleansed to appear beautiful and white.

H. VIRGIL PORTER,
Dentist.
Bloody Run, Penn'a., March 28, 1867.-1y.

TRIUMPH IN DENTISTRY.

TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT PAIN,
By the use of Nitrous Oxide Gas, and is attended with no danger whatever.

TEMPORARY SETS
inserted if called for. Special attention will be made to diseased gums and a cure warranted or no charge made.

TEETH FILLED
to last for life, and all work in the dental line done to the entire satisfaction of all or the money refunded. Prices shall correspond with the times.

I have located permanently in Bedford, and shall visit Schellsburgh the 1st Monday of each month, remaining one week; Bloody Run the 3d Monday, remaining one week; the balance of my time I can be found at my office 3 doors South of the Court House, Bedford, Pa.

WM. W. VAN ORMER,
Nov. 23, 1866. Dentist.

DENTISTRY.
I. N. BOWSER, RESIDENT DENTIST, WOODBERRY, Pa., visits Bloody Run three days of each month, commencing with the second Tuesday of the month. Prepared to perform all Dental operations with which he may be favored. Terms within the reach of all and strictly cash except by special contract. Work to be sent by mail or otherwise, must be paid for when impressions are taken.

NO MORE BALD HEADS!
NO MORE GRAY LOCKS
Dr. LEONS'
ELECTRIC HAIR RENEWER,

Is pronounced by all who have used it the very best preparation for the hair. It is a positive cure for Baldness, eradicates Dandruff and Humors, stops the Hair from falling out, and speedily restores Gray Locks to their original hue and luxuriance.

It makes the hair soft, glossy, fragrant, pleasant to the touch and easy to arrange. Dry, wiry and intractable locks become moist, pliant and disposed to remain in any desired position. As a Hair Dressing it has no equal. The sales are enormous and it is a universal favorite with old and young of both sexes.

Sold by Druggists throughout the United States. Address all orders to

GLOBE WOOLEN FACTORY.—20,000 LBS. OF WOOL WANTED.—The proprietor of this well established institution returns his thanks to his numerous customers for their former patronage, and begs to assure them that he is now better prepared than ever to accommodate them. His machinery, which is abundant, is in excellent order, and he can card and spin for customers on the shortest notice, at 25 cents per pound, and he is prepared to do all kinds of manufacturing. Mr. Ullery will wait upon our former customers throughout the county and afford them an opportunity to exchange their wool for goods. At least 20,000 lbs. of good wool is anxiously desired. Please give us a call if convenient, if not, "wait for the wagon."

BRITISH PERIODICALS.

London Quarterly Review (Conservative)
Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
Westminster Review (Radical).
North British Review (Free-Church).
AND
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory)

These foreign periodicals are regularly republished by us in the same style as heretofore. Those who know them and who have long subscribed to them, need no reminder; those whom the civil war of the last few years has deprived of their once welcome supply of the best periodical literature, will be glad to have them again within their reach; and those who may never have met them, will assuredly be well pleased to receive accredited reports of the progress of European science and literature.
